Shake Things Up with Diverse In-Class Activities

Reflective Practice Large Group Meeting
3:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11, 2015
HUB Allegheny Room

This interdisciplinary panel is a roundtable discussion and workshop with instructors of both undergraduate and graduate students designed to facilitate conversations about innovative instructional practices. The panelists will discuss or model a few ideas they’ve used in the classroom and then facilitate a conversation to learn what others are doing in their classrooms. The goal is to generate diverse new ideas and share strategies for increased student engagement. Panelists will collect suggestions and create a master document of strategies that will be shared through the Center for Teaching Excellence.

Panelists

Dr. Erin Conlin, History, Erin.Conlin@iup.edu
Professor Brooke Mathna, Criminology, B.E.Mathna@iup.edu
Dr. Pao Ying Hsiao, Food and Nutrition, P.L.Hsiao@iup.edu
Dr. Mimi Benjamin. Student Affairs and Higher Education, mbenjami@iup.edu

SoTL Materials Available from IUP Libraries

Books

Articles

Magna Commons Webinars

Ten Strategies for Enhancing Learning in Introductory Classes

#IUPRP Hashtag for Reflective Practice Large Group Meetings